CANDIDATES IN FIELD FOR PRIMARIES SEPT. 18

Three Formally Announce and Many Others Getting Ready.

PREDICT HOT CONTEST

It is a long step from the present time to Tuesday, September 18th, on which date the primary election will be held to nominate a full county ticket, but nevertheless some candidates are already openly in the field and others are planning to soon toss their hats into the ring. Indications are that Centre County is due for one of the merriest political campaigns known in many years.

The first aspirants for Republican nominations to formally announce their candidacy are J. O. Heverly, who would like to become County Treasurer, and Harry A. Rossman, who seeks to be chosen Register. Both are residents of Bellefonte Borough. Another to formally announce is Lloyd A. Stover, of Spring Township, who wants the Republican nomination for Recorder. Friends assume that their theory is announcing so far ahead of the primaries is that the early bird has a good chance of snaring the worm. Some prospective candidates believe that they will fare better by deferring their entry into the political contest. Be that as it may, as DeWolfe Hopper, the noted actor, used to say in his drawing room, Mr. Heverly and Mr. Rossman have adopted the early entry idea and are industriously seeking pledges of support at the primaries.

Several others are mentioned as considering becoming candidates for various places on the Republican ticket. Orrin Kline and E. J. Gehret, both of Bellefonte, are spoken of as prospective aspirants for County Treasurer. County Auditor Tom. Fletcher, of Howard, and Poor Overseer Tom Morgan, of Bellefonte, are said to be figuring on going after the nomination for Register.

It is conceded upon all sides that Prothonotary Roy Wilkinson is entitled to a second term and should have no opposition for re-nomination.

Recorder Bill Brown will probably go after the Republican nomination for Sheriff, and if so his friends predict that he will inject into his campaign all of the activity for which he is noted. Jake Knisely, a deputy warden at Rockview prison, is said to be shaping his sails to also seek this nomination. On the Democratic side it is reported that W. D. Zerby and his faction are grooming Dick Taylor, of Bellefonte, and will formally enter him for Sheriff. Clark Carson, of Bellefonte, is regarded as also likely to seek this Democratic nomination.

Former Deputy Recorder Walter Armstrong, of Bellefonte, is regarded as a prospective aspirant for Republican nomination for Recorder.

While it is yet too early for Republicans generally to form much idea as to how things will work out at the primaries next September, there is a growing belief that the party will face a hard campaign and that the strongest ticket possible must be nominated to make certain Republican success. In this connection the hope is expressed by many Republicans that the ticket as finally nominated will be made up of not only high-type citizens but that it will be representative of the whole county and thus command the full Republican strength at the November election.

Held for Court.

James C. Martin, of Waddle, arraigned before Justice J. M. Keichline, of Bellefonte, on Saturday afternoon on a charge of larceny as bailee, was held for court under bail of $500. Martin leased a team of horses valued at $400 from G. W. Gates, of Altoona, agreeing to make payments monthly until the team was paid for and then permitted them to be sold at sheriff's sale when his property was taken, according to the testimony given.

County Auditors Organized

The county auditors—H. H. Stover, of Smulton; C. H. Gramley, of Rebersburg; and Thomas A. Fletcher, of Howard, met on Monday morning and organized by electing Mr. Stover, president, and Mr. Gramley, secretary. Active work in auditing the accounts will begin next Monday.

Named Mercantile Appraiser.

Abraham D. Gledhill, of Howard, has been appointed Mercantile Appraiser for Centre County for the year 1923. The appointment was made by Auditor General Samuel S. Lewis, at Harrisburg, and was formally announced last Saturday.

HEARD INTERESTING CASE

G. W. Rees, of Bellefonte, on Grand Jury in Harrisburg.

G. W. Rees was one of the members of the jury in the sessions of Federal Court held in Harrisburg preceding Christmas when the case of the robbery of the Glen Rock distillery was heard. Twenty-five men, some of them alleged to be quite wealthy and ring-leaders, were indicted by the jury on which Mr. Rees served.

"A big book of interest could be written if what was told was written into it," said Mr. Rees.

"In one instance, it was told how one of the big army trucks, loaded with barrels of whiskey, got stuck at the side of the road on a big hill near a farm-house. The driver was in a predicament and did not know how to get out. Then he said he went to the farmer and asked if he had a tractor. The farmer said, 'Yes,' and he was told that if he would help pull him out of the rut and get the truck started on the road again he would be well paid. 'Alright,' was the reply of the farmer and he got out the tractor and pulled the truck to the top of the hill, whereupon the driver reached into his pocket, pulled out a billbook and gave the farmer a $500 bill."

"Another farmer was given $100," continued Mr. Rees, "when he permitted a truck containing only one barrel to be kept in his barn over night."

PLAN NEW THEATRE.

J. O. Heverly May Erect Modern Structure on Corner.

J. O. Heverly was approached on Tuesday morning regarding the erection of a new theatre which it was reported he will build on the corner of High and Allegheny streets where he has been in the automobile accessories business for some years. Mr. Heverly said:

"I have been considering the erection of a new entertainment house on the corner and have an architect figuring now on arrangement to get seating capacity. If I can get seating capacity for 1,500 or more, I will start the building about April 1st. I have a frontage of two stores and could put in a larger stage than any in town so as to book better shows. The public would likely patronize the shows liberally if given good entertainment at reasonable price."

"The seating capacity may be secured by having a main floor and a gallery. Until the architect completes his plans, I could not give out anything more definite."

"My new building, now under construction, will be completed before April 1st and I will move into the store-room with my accessories line at that time. I have not rented any of the apartments yet but will wait until they are completed before giving any leases."

TAKEN TO GLEN MILLS

Sheriff Took Charles Taylor Away Last Thursday.

Charles Taylor, the lad of fifteen years, who fatally shot Irvin Meiss in front of the Meiss store at Colyer on Nov. 29, was taken to the Glen Mills school to serve an indefinite period by Sheriff Harry Dukeman last Thursday.

Taylor was given a hearing in Juvenile Court held the preceding Friday. He is a lad whose parents have been dead for some years and who was in need of better care. It was deemed carelessness for a lad his years to be trusted with a Winchester pump gun, such as he had when the accident occurred.

False Alarm.

Answering a false alarm for fire, both the Undine and Logan companies went to the corner of Bishop and Allegheny streets on Saturday afternoon about half past 4 o'clock, having both pumps and hook and ladder outfits as well as considerable hose, expecting to have a dangerous blaze to fight. There was much excitement and the firemen looked in vain for the fire. It is an expensive proposition to taxpayers to respond to false alarms and every precaution should be taken before an alarm is requested. We did not learn who gave this alarm.

Well Known Visitor Killed.

John H. Barton, of Pittsburgh, who frequently visited in Centre County and was well known here, was killed on December 26th, when he stepped from a street car. He had been on a trip to California and returned to his home. As he stepped from the street car, a Baltimore and Ohio train passed by and he stepped in its path, being crushed to death. He was 75 years old and recently retired after forty years active service in which it is said he never met with an accident.

NOON FLYER STRUCK AUTO EAST OF JULIAN

A. L. Christian and Son-in-Law
Have Remarkable Escape.

TRAIN WAS SPEEDING

The Pittsburgh-Easton flyer, fast passenger train between Pittsburgh and Easton due in Bellefonte at 1:26, last Thursday just after the noon hour, struck an automobile and put it out of commission, but the occupants, A. L. Christian and his son-in-law, Mr. Fetzer, escaped injury, it being said they were not even scratched.

The accident occurred on a private crossing near the Christian home about 2 miles east of Julian. The men had just eaten their dinner and started from home in a roadster. They were watching another car coming back of them and failed to notice the approach of the train, which was speeding along close to a mile a minute on the straight stretch of track when it crashed into the auto, smashing both front wheels.

The train was stopped as quickly as possible and the trainmen took the license number of the auto as well as other particulars, to make a report. They were surprised to find the occupants unharmed. It is quite likely that the car was close enough to the cylinder heads on the locomotive which came in contact with them of the front wheels, thus putting the car out of commission and giving the men a scare, but the weight of the auto being enough to prevent serious injury to both. They were, intending to drive to the saw-mill of George Holt, nearby.

The car was towed to the garage at the Christian home to be repaired.

WORKMAN CAUGHT BY SHAFT

Harry Eminhizer, of Coleville, Painfully Injured.

Harry Eminhizer, of Coleville, employed by the Chemical Lime Co. at the Buffalo Run plant, had his left side painfully bruised, several ribs fractured, his right ear torn and his shoulders severely contused when his clothing caught on a shaft while he was engaged in oiling one of the large lifting machines on the Friday preceding Christmas. His condition is not regarded as serious, but it will be several weeks before he will be able to work again.

Mr. Eminhizer's coat caught on a bolt head protruding from a collar on the shaft. The space between the shaft and ceiling was only about eight inches and this prevented him from being whirled about. However, when he was finally released and dropped to the floor, he was minus his coat, sheepskin jacket, two army shirts and undershirt, the machinery having stripped the clothing from the upper part of his body.

Mr. Eminhizer is quite well-known in this section. He is well advanced in years, which made his injuries more dangerous. Considering the circumstances, however, he was very fortunate to escape.

Chas. F. Cook Retires.

Charles F. Cook, who had been dean of bankers in Bellefonte following resignations of the venerable John P. Harris and Isaac Mitchell from the Bellefonte Trust company, with the passing of the old year also joined those comrades in the bank for many years and will devote his time more to the work of the Centre Building and Loan Association, of which he has been the efficient secretary. He will have offices with his brothers in the Crider Exchange. Mr. Cook was in the banking work for 55 years, spending 33 years with the Centre County bank and 22 years in the Bellefonte Trust company.

New Quarantines.

The homes of Dr. R. L. Stevens, William H. Brouse and George Hazel were quarantined for chicken pox during the Christmas season.

Homes of Van Jodon, Dean Shope, Clyde Jodon, Harry Alters, Dr. J. C. Rodgers and A. G. Morris, whose grandson, Robert, Jr., is the victim, are quarantined for chicken pox. Ivan Walker's home is quarantined for measles.

N. G. P. Inspection.

The National Guard of Pennsylvania will be inspected between January 8 and the middle of March, 1923, according to announcement from Harrisburg from the office of Adj. Gen. Frank D. Beary.

Penn State Lost.

Penn State eleven lost to the University of California in the football game at Pasadena on New Year's day, the score being 14-3.

GIVES FORTUNE ON X-MAS WITH LOVE TO FOUR SONS

Isaac Miller Divides $10,000
Equally Among Children.

IS 83 YEARS OLD TODAY

Isaac Miller, ex-County Commissioner, of Bellefonte, made his four sons very happy on Christmas, celebrating in an unusual manner. It was a Christmas that will be long remembered by the sons. It cost the father over $10,000, but it was of his own doing and he will agree the money was well spent. What he did was to distribute this snug fortune among his four boys.

The widely known carpenter has been a thrifty resident and in his lifetime accumulated a comfortable little fortune. Today he is 83 years old. He retains remarkable health and vigor but he realizes that he has lived longer than most men. This, perhaps, was one reason why he made the recent Christmas a most remarkable one in his family.

To Herbert Miller, who has been residing in the valuable homestead property on East High street was given a deed for the property. While the venerable father was seated at the Christmas dinner table, with his son and family, the deed was drawn from his pocket and handed to the son. Tears were shed, but they were tears of joy. To the other sons—Harry S. and Maurice E., of East High street, and Edward, of Philadelphia, was given stocks and bonds having a value of $2,000 for each one.

ACCIDENT BY BROKEN CHAIN

Andrew Saylor Injured and Touring Car Wrecked.

Andrew Saylor had a narrow escape from bleeding to death from injuries sustained when his Ford touring car was wrecked on the Snow Shoe mountain after getting beyond control when a chain on one of the rear wheels broke unexpectedly. Mr. Saylor is still in the Bellefonte hospital and will likely recover.

The accident occurred on Thursday, Dec. 21. Saylor was in the car alone and was returning to his home in Bellefonte. Just after passing over the top of Snow Shoe mountain, the chain broke. The touring car skidded and he was unable to get control of it. It struck a tree with such force as to be considerably damaged and Saylor, among other injuries, suffered a severe cut on his right leg. It started to bleed freely, but the young man displayed his customary pluck and managed to hobble to a house, where he was given first aid and a physician summoned, who took him to the hospital.

The trip made by Saylor, in his crippled condition, was estimated at four miles. The blood had clotted on his clothes, to which it is declared he owes his life, as the wound had severed a vein which would have caused him to bleed to death before reaching help, had it not been for the cold weather which made the clot that effectually stopped the flow of blood.

Sparks—Sparks.

Miss Ethel Sparks, daughter of President Emeritus Edwin E. Sparks, of the Penna State College, and Carvel Sparks, of Pedricktown, N. J., were united in marriage by Dr. John Martin Thomas, president of the Penna. State College, assisted by Rev. Dr. Samuel Martin, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at State College, on the evening of January 1st. The groom is a horticulturist at Pedricktown, where the couple will reside.

Coates—McGinley.

Paul Leland Coates, of Parkersburg, Chester county, and Miss Eleanor Twimire McGinley, of Bellefonte, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. McGinley, of South Thomas street, on Christmas day by Rev. E. E. McKelvey, pastor of the Methodist church. The groom is a graduate of Penn State, 1921. They left on a honeymoon trip for the east and later will locate on a farm near Parkersburg.

Emet—Roff.

Homer Emet and Jeannette Roff, both of Bellefonte, were united in marriage at the United Brethren parsonage on Dec. 22nd by the pastor, Rev. Geo. E. Smith.

Kept Freight Moving.

New Year day was observed by the Pennsylvania Railroad company by keeping every engine and car that could be pressed into service moving so that the congestion in freight shipments might be further relieved.

VAULT CLOCK STOPPED.

Edward Robb Displays Unusual Skill and Gets Locks Open.

The First National Bank of Bellefonte officials and employees were kept guessing for about two hours on Saturday morning when the locks did not open at the time set by the clocks the preceding evening at the close of work. It took just about two hours trying work and test of skill before the combination of the locks was finally worked successfully by Edward Robb, one of the tellers who got the combination right and was able to open the doors of the institution and the big vault.

The dilemma was first noticed about 8 o'clock when the time lock didn't respond and the touch on the combination of the big vault door caused the burglar alarm to begin sounding. Once started, it seemed nothing could be done to stop the burglar alarm. It also began to assume the serious matter of bringing in experts to solve the trouble when Mr. Robb successfully turned the combination and the locks fortunately responded.

Then it was learned that all the trouble was caused because one of the two clocks in the vault, controlling the locks, had stopped at 3 o'clock on Saturday morning.

CONTEMPLATE CHANGE

Electric Light Company May Be Merged Again.

Negotiations are under way, it was learned this week, for the merging of the Keystone Power Corporation with the West Penn Power Company. Officially, nothing definite could be learned this week, but it is understood on good authority that the change will likely be made and arrangements closed within the present week.

The Keystone Power Corporation recently took over the property of the State-Centre Electric company, operating throughout Centre County. The West Penn Power company is one of the largest concerns operating electric light and power plants. Their operations are in the district from West Virginia to Pittsburgh. Only one other large company splits their territory, that of the Penn Public Service Company, which is in Huntingdon, Phillipsburg and surrounding territory.

J. W. HERRON CHOSEN SUPT. AT HUNTINGDON

Resigns at Rockview to Head
Industrial Reform School.

IS POPULAR OFFICIAL

James W. Herron, of Bellefonte, assistant superintendent of construction at Rockview penitentiary, has resigned that post and has accepted the position of superintendent of the Industrial Reformatory at Huntingdon. He will assume his new duties about the middle of the month, removing with his family to Huntingdon to make that place their future home.

The selection of Mr. Herron was made by the board of trustees of the Huntingdon Reformatory, of which Hon. A. G. Morris, of Bellefonte, is president. The vacancy for which Mr. Herron has been chosen was created by the death of the late Blair Patton, who died several weeks ago. Mr. Patton was superintendent of the institution for many years.

Mr. Herron has been a resident of Bellefonte for some years. He has been conspicuously identified with the construction work at Rockview prison, much of the success achieved there being due to large measure to his engineering and executive ability. During his residence here he has won the admiration and confidence of the public. His many friends are sure that his administration of affairs at Huntingdon Reformatory will be attended with gratifying success.

CAR TOOK WILD DASH.

Driver, Roy Clements, Had Narrow Escape.

A Ford touring car owned by Roy Clements, of Bellefonte, got beyond control when it began to skid as he crossed Allegheny street at the alley above Logan street and came to grief at the bottom of Reservoir hill on New Year's eve. Mr. Clements had a narrow escape from injury and painfully hurt his back but was able to be about his work at the Wilson garage on Monday.

He was driving the car without chains on the rear wheels and seemed to get along well until crossing Allegheny street, well up on the hill, when the car began to skid. He got it stopped and was getting ready to put the chains on when it started to skid down the hill unexpectedly. Clements started after it and managed to get on the running board. He was endeavoring to gain control when it appeared it would upset and he tried to balance it but was thrown from the running board with such force that his back was hurt.

The touring car continued on down the hill, gaining more speed, and ran into a railing at the Brent House just before reaching Bishop street. The rail was bent and the car was considerably wrecked about the front.

Treasurer of New Organization.

William J. Emerick, of Bellefonte, operator of bus lines through Nittany valley to Lock Haven, also to Milesburg, Pleasant Gap and State College, was elected treasurer of a new organization known as the Pennsylvania Motor Bus Association. The organization is for bus owners of the state only, who will hold regular meetings and make an attempt to secure more uniform service. The second meeting of the organization was held at the Penn Harris in Harrisburg this Thursday and other officers were elected and the organization completed.

Enactment of a state tax on the $5,500,000,000 invested in manufacturing in this state and abolishing of the tax on anthracite coal, of game and fishing licenses, with an increase of tax of $5 on each motor vehicle and an increase on auto trucks proportionate to their weight as a means of putting the commonwealth on a cash basis, were recommended by Charles A. Snyder, state treasurer, in his report to Governor Spraul.

Business Men Elect Officers.

At the regular meeting of the Associated Business Men of Bellefonte on Wednesday evening officers were elected as follows: Claude Herr, president; Frank Crawford, vice president; G. Oscar Gray, secretary; John Bullock, treasurer.

POOR AT FIGURES SO HE LEFT HER

Julius Berman Wanted Wife Who Could Juggle Mathematics With Euclidlike Precision.

PROBLEM UP TO JUDGE

Man Needed an Adding Machine So He Got Married and Then Found His Spouse Was Nothing but Housekeeper.

New York.—And now its the mathematical marriage in which a wife is pictured as the least common denominator, with emphasis on the least.

The fractions consisted of a husband and six children, or 1-6 and allimony, which at present is 0-2,000.

Mixing in a little algebra, X, as usual, being the unknown quantity, there is the following equation:

A plus B equals C minus X.

Considering that A is husband, B wife and C, money, Justice Kapper has to solve the marital problem, not by multiplying the means and the extremes, but by resorting to trigonometry and calculus if he is to make X equal happiness.

Wanted Figuring Wife.

It seems that Julius Berman, a widower, with six children and real estate, married to get a mate who could figure up first and second mortgages with Euclidlike precision—that his wife told him she was on speaking terms with Q. E. D., and most certainly intimate with addition and subtraction.

Berman, in effect, said he wanted an adding machine, so he got married. He told the court:

"My wife falsely and fraudulently represented that she was a fit person to manage financial matters and so we were married. As a matter of fact, she is not. She cannot be trusted even with a half dollar, because she does not know how much to pay the huckster and how much change, if any, she should receive. As soon as I found out she was unfit to disburse funds, I refused to live with her and refused to take her into my household."

Mrs. Berman, who is fighting proceedings to have the marriage annulled, declared the court.

Cannibals Here 4,000 Years Ago

Scientist Finds Portions of Human Skulls in Mounds Near Omaha.

RESEARCHES ARE IMPORTANT

Declares Peace-Loving Race Inhabited the Mid-West Section of America Prior to Time of Indians.

Omaha, Neb.—In an effort to obtain evidence to support his belief that Nebraska was inhabited 4,000 years ago by cannibalistic cave men, Dr. Robert F. Gilder, doctor of science, known throughout the West for his desert landscape canvases, has begun excavating a short distance south of Omaha. Permission was granted him after a dozen years of effort to induce owners of the land to permit the excavations.

Finds Bones of Men.

The site of the excavations is marked by several eroded mounds which the scientist believes were community houses of the Omaha or Pawnee Indians. It is his theory that these mounds were built upon the foundations of the houses of the earlier tribe, possibly ancestors of the Mid-West Indians. In support of this belief, he has discovered that the upper structure—declared by him to have been built with mud and stone sides covered with thatch—had an entrance on the south, whereas the lower excavations clearly show entrances from the east.

Using the Darwinian accumulation theory—one inch of earth to each century—Doctor Gilder calculates that he has reached the 4,000-years-old surface level and there he has discovered portions of human skulls, arm and foot bones.

Peace-Loving Race, He Says.

His discoveries include ashes, declared by him to be roasted human bones. From this he evolves the theory that the early inhabitants were cannibals. clares the doctor, "that there lived in this portion of the North American continent a peace-loving race prior to the time of the Indians, as we commonly apply the term. I deduce this from the fact that the houses were large enough to accommodate from ten to twelve families and that the dwellings are separated by considerable territory. If the race had been warlike, the individuals would have felt a common duty for close association and would have built houses in groups for mutual protection."

MAY RUN OR RUIN THE WORLD

Scientist Explains the Force That Might Result From the Liberation of an Atom.

London.—By liberation of the atom man may some day control a force which will perform the entire work of the world, but if it gets beyond his control it may blow the earth and all its inhabitants to pieces, Doctor Ashton of Cambridge declared in a lecture before the British association. The chances of such a catastrophe are practically negligible, he explained.

"Professor Rutherford succeeded in arranging a collision between the central portions of two atoms. The result was the transmutation of the atoms into entirely different forms of matter."

"The possibility of such transmutation on any scale is of enormous importance. If the amount of hydrogen which goes to constitute a tablespoonful of water were transmuted into helium, the energy liberated would be 200,000 kilowatt hours—one-seventh of the total amount of electricity used in London in a day for lighting and power purposes.

"The possibility has been discussed, that this energy, when first liberated, would be out of human control. In that case, if all the hydrogen on earth were detonated into space, the successful experiment would be published throughout the entire universe as the birth of a new star. The probability of this catastrophe is practically negligible."

FALLS 8 FLOORS; IS UNHURT

Plunges Over Edge of Roof of New Building Into Alley Below.

Detroit.—John Hancock, eighteen years old, of 510 Abbott street, pushing a wheelbarrow into a hoist shaft on the roof of the eight-story building at Third and Baltimore avenues, sought to save himself by letting the wheelbarrow hurtle down the shaft, but was dragged forward, and plunged over the edge of the roof and into the alley below.

The wheelbarrow at the bottom of the shaft was a total wreck, but after the surgeons had looked John all over very carefully, they could not find anything wrong with him.

Prickly Pears for Sheep.

Johannesburg, S. A.—Experiments on the government agricultural farm at Grootfontein proved that a sheep can exist for 280 days solely on a diet of prickly pears and, if a little lucerne plant is added, for 500 days without a drop of water. That beats the camel.

1,766,118 Are Soviet Victims

Astounding Statistics Showing Executions in Russia Since November 7, 1917.

FARMERS AT HEAD OF LIST

Practically Half Total Number Executed Were Farmers—Stories of Religious Persecutions Borne Out—Murder 28 Bishops.

Washington, D. C.—Washington officials and members of the diplomatic corps are astounded at statistics received here tending to show that 1,766,118 persons were executed in Russia by the soviet government since it came into power on November 7, 1917, to the end of 1921.

This total is given in what are claimed to be official statistics which have been received here by the diplomatic representatives of a European country which is generally regarded as not unfriendly to the existing Russian government.

Farmers Lead List.

According to these statistics the persons executed were classified by the soviet authorities as follows:

Farmers, 815,000; intellectuals, 355,250; soldiers, 200,000; laborers, 192,350; officers, 54,850; gendarmes, 48,500; property owners, 12,950; police officers, 10,500; physicians, 8,800; professors and teachers, 6,775; priests, 1,215; bishops, 28.

The statistics did not indicate, it is said, whether the former Czar Nicholas and his family were included in the fatal list.

Some diplomats and officials said that while it is impossible either to confirm or refute it officially there was much information to support an assumption that the startling record of execution and wholesale assassination was approximately correct.

May Explain Famine.

The fact that practically half of the total number of persons executed were farmers had occasioned some surprise, and is interpreted by certain officials as indicating that the conditions among the Russian peasantry have been much worse than commonly believed, and as explaining to some degree the shortage of foodstuffs in Russia.

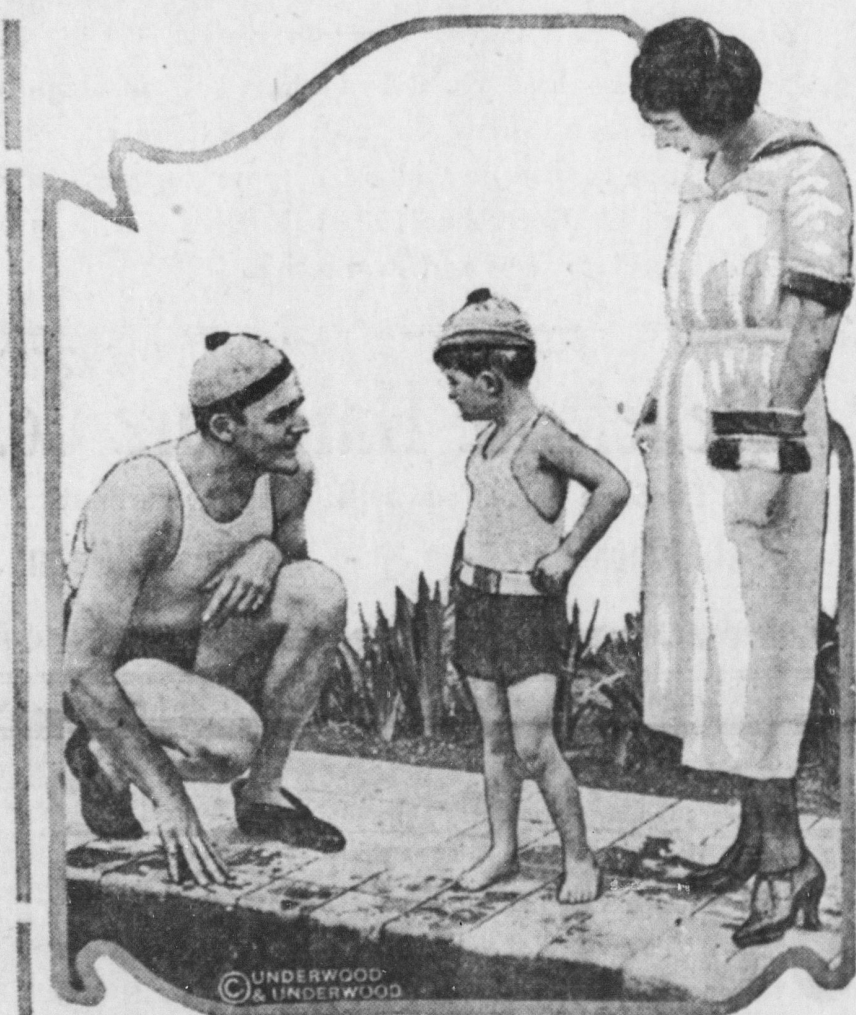

Stories of religious persecutions in Russia seem to be borne out by the execution of 28 bishops and 1,215 priests, and unofficial reports received by the diplomat furnishing the statistics are to the effect that more church officials have been executed by soviet authorities this year than in any preceding year.

Where Alleged Victims of Ku Klux Were Found

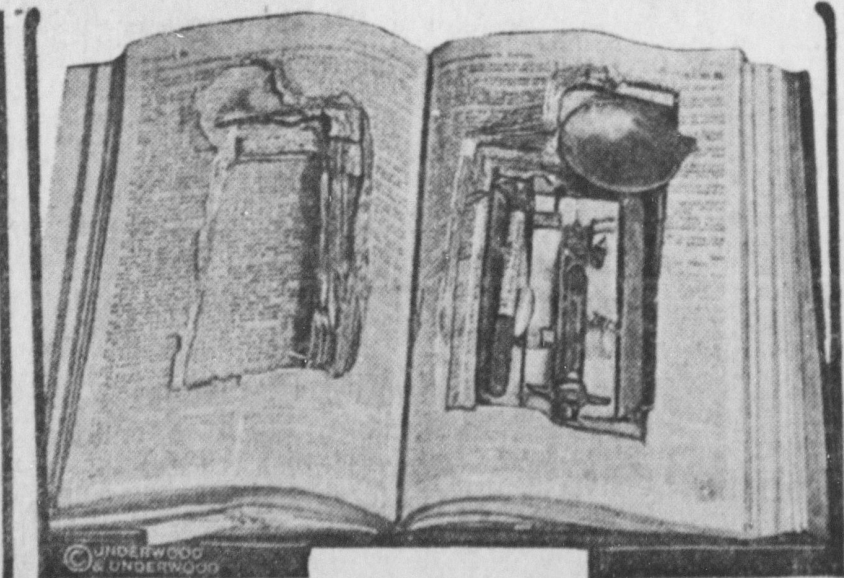

Here are the first photographs of scenes in the tense drama of real life as it has developed recently down at Mer Rouge, Louisiana. One photograph gives a general view of Lake Lafourche where a mysterious dynamite blast brought to the surface the long-hidden bodies of Watt Daniels and T. F. Richards, two of a party of five kidnaped by masked riders. It is alleged they had fled from ambush on a former mayor of the town, who subsequently also disappeared and later was arrested at Baltimore, Md., and charged with murder. The other photograph shows secret service men and a diver searching for the bodies in Lake Lafourche.

This exclusive photograph, made in the office of the chief of the narcotic division of the Treasury department, shows how even the Holy Bible has been used to conceal quantities of the deadly drugs, a small container being included.

Famous Old London Inn Is Doomed

BEAUTY FROM OKLAHOMA

Helen Heckman of Muskogee, Okla., is discovering New York with her mother and sister Mildred. The prize winning Oklahoma beauty, in spite of the fact that she is deaf, is talented beyond most people. She sings, plays piano and dances in a way that has attracted the attention of theatrical producers. She is taking in all concerts and shows, and being an expert in "hearing" through sound vibrations as well as lip reading, she gets the import of everything that is going on. Miss Heckman owes her unusual development to her mother who began her training at the age of thirteen.

Stainless Surface to Steel. The discovery of a process for the electrodeposition of chromium on any metal article is reported from Sheffield, England. It hinges in part on the discovery of stainless steel, but unlike previous discoveries along that line, it deals with a surface treatment of the article only. It not only makes the surface stainless and permits a high polish to be put on it, but it is said to be cheaper than ordinary stainless steel in the production of large articles. The surface of the treated article is very hard, and the deposit is not likely to wear off. One of the difficulties, however, is to prevent stripping or peeling, which is often seen in silver-plated articles.

WILL HELP RUN GOVERNMENT

Brig. Gen. John R. McQuigg, Ohio, Organizer, Predicts Reform Through Ex-Service Men.

"There is an avalanche coming down on government before long when the service men get properly organized. The government will be run as it has not been run in the past, and is being run now."

The above statement was made by Brig. Gen. John R. McQuigg, veteran organizer, campaigner and silver-tongued orator of the American Legion in accepting his recent unanimous election as chairman of the Cuyahoga County (O.) Council of the Legion which includes all Cleveland Legionnaires.

Entrance of ex-service men into the active affairs of government will purify American politics and will inject a new note of Americanism into this country's affairs, according to General McQuigg, although the Legion, as an organization, will never participate in partisan politics.

General McQuigg is serving his third term as Legion national executive committee member from Ohio, and is a past commander of the Ohio department. At the recent national convention in New Orleans he was chosen a three-year member of the national finance committee. He was chairman of the very important resolutions committee at the convention, and presented the resolution on adjusted compensation to the convention. He played an active role in the compensation fight in congress.

A brigadier general of the Ohio National Guard, Mr. McQuigg is president of the Windemere Savings and Loan company of Cleveland, and is a former mayor of East Cleveland. He has always been active in civic and political affairs and has been a practicing attorney since 1890.

General McQuigg is a veteran of both the Spanish and World wars. In the recent war he commanded the One Hundred and Twelfth engineers in the Thirty-seventh division at Camp Sheridan overseas.

ANOTHER LEGION MAN A HERO

Omaha (Neb.) Member Stops Runaway Team, Saving Many Persons From Threatened Injury.

E. W. Sears, a member of Douglas County post of the American Legion at Omaha, Neb., is recovering from wounds received when he performed a heroic rescue of several pedestrians whose lives were threatened by a runaway team of horses at a downtown corner in Omaha.

The team was dashing into a crowd of men and women when Sears became aware of the situation. There was no time to pull the pedestrians out of the way. With all the presence of mind displayed by doughboys attacking a German machine-gun nest, Sears ran into the street, leaped at the horses and succeeded in catching a bridle. The team stopped a few feet from the crowd of men and women.

Sears, however, was injured, suffering a deep wound in the leg when one of the horses struck him with an iron shoe. Pleased for his bravery by a number of persons in the crowd, Sears refused to admit that he had done anything extraordinary.

"Any of my buddies in the Legion would have done the same," the war veteran said.

INFLUENCE OF LEGION POSTS

Organizations Can Build Solidly Into Life of Community, National Vice Commander Says.

Active participation of American Legion posts in the affairs of their communities was urged by P. Plummer of Casper, Wyo., national vice commander of the American Legion, in a recent address to members of the Legion national headquarters staff at Indianapolis.

"The entire future of the American Legion depends upon the manner in which it appeals to the great body of American people who were not in the war," Mr. Plummer said. "By unselfish activity in behalf of a greater village, town or city, the Legion post can build itself solidly into the life of the community and develop a powerful national influence."

Mr. Plummer announced that he was going to take an active part in the Legion's program for 1923 instead of considering his office an honorary title.

HONOR HERSHELL, THE POET

Buddies Join Author, Popular With Doughboys in World War, in Celebrating Birthday.

William Herschell of Indianapolis author of "Long Boy," "The Kid Has Gone to the Colors" and other poems popular with the doughboys in the World war, was honored by his Indiana American Legion buddies at a recent celebration of the poet's forty-ninth birthday at Greensburg, Ind.

Alvin Owsley, national commander of the Legion, who spoke at the celebration, said that Herschell was one of the few war writers who knew the heart of the fighter, and who spoke his language. The Hoosier poet's strength is in his knowledge of the thoughts and actions of the millions of plain, ordinary people who form the bulk of America's population, according to Mr. Owsley. The tribute to Indiana Legionnaires was voiced by Perry Faulkner, Indiana commander. Philip B. Stapp, editor of "The Hoosier Legionnaire," was in charge of arrangements for the banquet and acted as toastmaster.

"Why Do They Call Them Buddies?" was written by Herschell and was dedicated to the Legion at the banquet. The poem follows:

Why do they call them Buddies?
What other name as sweet
Has ever been war-hallowed
By rain and snow and sleet?
What other name than Buddies
Would men like our men bear
When all hell belched its baptisms
And death was everywhere?

Why do they call them Buddies?
Though not of common kin,
Old Glory called them brothers
When Freedom said: "Go in!"
They swept in mighty legions
To man land, sky and sea;
God, devil-dog and doughboy—
A fighting trinity!

Why do they call them Buddies?
Because they stand today,
Still Buddies to the Buddy
Left shattered by the fray.
Though peace may grow unkind
Of war's unsettled debt,
The Buddy to the Buddy
Stands fast—and can't forget!

That's why they call them Buddies!
The shrapnel's shriek is gone,
But still, beneath Old Glory,
The Buddies carry on!
And so, tonight, heart-happy,
I breathe this fervent prayer:
God make the way all roses
For Buddy Legionnaire!

Herschell's legion of friends know him as "Bill." He has been the leading feature writer of the Indianapolis News for years and his poems have had nation-wide circulation.

TO HAVE BIG ATHLETIC MEET

Secretary Lindberg of Legion's National Commission at Work on Program for Next Convention.

On the road to complete recovery of his health shattered by the World war, Al. C. Lindberg, secretary of the American Legion's national athletic commission, is on the job at Legion national headquarters preparing for the largest ex-service athletic meeting in history at the next national convention in San Francisco.

Lindberg came back from France after spending months in hospitals suffering from wounds caused when an airplane he was piloting crashed to the ground. This was not before he had participated in a number of air battles with German aviators.

Although Lindberg suffered continually from his war wounds, he did not remain long in American hospitals. When the Legion's athletic commission was formed to encourage the spread of clean, wholesome sports among ex-service men and the younger generation, Lindberg was called from his home in Chicago to assume the position of secretary of the commission. His work was primarily responsible for the success of the Legion's recent athletic meet at the New Orleans convention.

A few days ago Lindberg submitted to an operation in a Chicago hospital in which several ribs were bound together with strips of silver and it is now believed that he will recover his health.

Lindberg is remembered in the sports world for his athletic career at the University of Illinois, where he was a ten-second man in the 100-yard dash and a member of the varsity football baseball and basketball teams.

Legion Men Edit Newspapers.

Editors of South Dakota newspapers took a holiday during one day of American Education Week, held December 8 to 9, inclusive, under the auspices of the American Legion. In each newspaper office members of the Legion wrote the editorials and news and did all the work of getting out the newspapers for that particular day. The work was supervised by the regular editorial staff of the various publications. The editing of newspapers is expected by Douglas Sheldon, South Dakota Legion adjutant, to aid materially in making known the Americanization program and plans of the Legion for the coming year.

THIS C. & O. CONDUCTOR GAINS 35 LBS.

"I enjoyed Christmas this time with more pleasure than I had in years," remarked W. L. Mahone, 410 Charlottesville, Va., the other day, in telling of the benefits he has derived from the use of Tanlac. Mr. Mahone has been a railroad conductor for nineteen years. He runs on the Chesapeake & Ohio from Charlottesville to Washington, D. C., and Richmond, Va.

"My stomach and digestion had been bad so long that I can hardly remember the time I could eat without suffering afterwards. I gradually grew weaker until I was often having to lay off from my run. In this run-down condition I contracted pneumonia in both lungs and came near losing my life."

"After this spell my stomach troubled me worse than ever and I remained almost as weak and helpless as a baby. While sitting around reading the papers I was attracted by the statements about Tanlac, which had such a sincere ring that I was led to believe the medicine might help me up the hill, and it pulled me clean up to the top. My appetite never fails, stomach misery is all gone, and I have gained thirty-five pounds in weight. Tanlac keeps me feeling 'spick and span,' too, so I can make my runs and still feel fine."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

A HUNTING SONG

Now that the nuts are taken
And the vales are cleared of the corn,
Now that the wind has shaven
The last leaf from the thorn,
Now, with the woods forsaken
And the empty fields forlorn,
Let the desolate spaces waken
To the music of hound and horn!

The feet of the year are flying
As the years before them have fled,
We see that the leaves are dying;
We know that the flowers are dead;
And we hear the wild geese crying
In their southward flight overhead;
And our hungry hearts are sighing
For the flash of the white and red.

For this is the wise gods' bidding—
When winds have scattered the rose,
And earth for a while lies hiding
In a mantle made of the snows,
And the gales from the north are gliding,
And the gates of the summer close—
That the lords of the land go riding
And the horn on the upland blows.

—Will H. Ogilvie, in Westminster Gazette.

HARP NOT NATIONAL EMBLEM

Red Dragon of Cadwallader Officially Recognized as the Peculiar Property of Wales.

While the harp is a Welsh national instrument, it is not recognized as the national emblem. The national emblem had a place in the royal arms of Great Britain as a supporter in the reign of King Henry VII, but that king, toward the end of his reign changed the supporters which were two white lions of March to the Welsh Dragon on the dexter side, with the White Greyhound on the sinister. The latter emblem was representative of either the De Beauforts, his own ancestors or the Nevilles, the ancestors of his wife, both of these families using the white greyhound as a family badge. In 1528 his son, Henry VIII, used for supporters to the royal arms the golden lion on the dexter, while the Red Dragon of Wales, which his father had used on the dexter he relegated to the sinister side. These supporters continued in use until the accession (in 1603) of James VI of Scotland as James I of England. James kept the golden lion on the dexter but changed the Red Dragon of Wales on the sinister to the Unicorn as in the royal arms of Scotland—an emblem of purity.—Montreal Family Herald.

Ring Evidently Intended for Her.

Becoming engaged to a United States army officer, a Victoria (B. C.) girl received a diamond engagement ring, which was inscribed and also conspicuous by its odd setting. Later the engagement was broken and when the officer refused to take back the ring, the young woman sold it to a jeweler, who said he could remove the inscription and sell the ring as new. A few months later the girl became engaged to another young man who, out of a choice of thousands of rings, purchased the very ring his fiancée had sold. Part of the inscription is still discernible.

OVER THE COUNTY

A birthday surprise party at the J. W. Dasher home, near Red Mill, was largely attended by friends on the 16th, when Mr. Dasher reached his seventieth milestone in life.

Rains during the past week and thawing of the heavy snowfall added much to the water supply in Centre County. It made it much more convenient for many farmers who had been handicapped for months by water shortage.

Monsignor Nevin P. Fisher, a native of Bunkburg and vicar general of the archdiocese of the Roman Catholic church in Philadelphia, recently visited Rev. Pater Monsignor Fisher was born at Bunkburg, a son of the late Dr. Peter Fisher, who for many years the minister of the Bunkburg Reformed church.

DATES FROM ANCIENT TIMES

Why the Unmarried Female of Today
Is Officially Designated by the Word "Spinster."

The word "spinster" comes down from old English times, when the males and females of a family were described as of the "spare side," or "spindle side," from the different occupations of the sexes. While the men worked or fought, the women stepped at home spinning wool or linen.

In those days every woman, whether single or married, was a spinster, because in the literal meaning of the word, her chief work was spinning while the men fought or hunted.

Gradually the word spinster came to mean more especially the unmarried daughters, possibly because it was understood that they were spinning for themselves, and the future "bottom drawer," whereas the word wife meant literally one who had been a weaver, and therefore was not now. Later spinster stood exclusively for the unmarried, and in 1617 it became the legal term for such.

Button Long in Man's Ear.

A small old-fashioned pearl button, dropped in some strange way into his ear when he was an infant, has just been brought to light again by a Dent, England, man who is seventy-five years of age. For several years past, he had suffered irritation in his left ear, which he attributed to accumulations of wax. During recent months it became worse, and as the result of treatment he, after a time, felt something come away, and found the button.

Saving the Baby.

A benevolent gentleman in Paris gave a franc to a street beggar who held a baby in her arms. He chuckled the youngster under the chin and, in amazement, cried:

"Why, your child is only a paste-board figure!"

"Yes, monsieur," she replied, "the night being cold, I left the real baby at home."—Baltimore Sun.

Gigglers May Be in Trouble.

Because four young women in his congregation giggled right out in meeting we are told that a Nova Scotia pastor of a negro church has haled them into police court on a charge of breaking up a church service. The magistrate has continued the case until he can consult law and precedents on giggling.

Easy Enough.

Professor Redmond (puffing the results obtained from the infection of the voice)—"Did I ever tell you the story of the actor who could read a menu so as to make his audience weep?"

Freshman (strangely moved)—"He must have read the prices."—New York Mercury.

Christmas entertainment was different here from any heretofore. There did not seem to be one drop of booze in town. If there was, it made no show as the residents celebrated our Lord's birthday like good Christians. Each family had a Christmas tree. The children and parents went from house to house to rejoice and participate in the distributing of presents.

FIRE MARSHALL'S REPORT 1922

Other News of Proceedings in Council Meeting.

In the absence of President Walker, of Council on Monday evening, J. M. Cunningham was elected president pro tem. The 1922 report of the borough manager and the 1922 report of the fire marshal were read. The latter is printed as follows:

To the Fire and Police Committee and members of the Borough Council:

I was elected fire marshal February 20, 1922, and during my term (until the present date) this department responded to twenty fire alarms, divided as follows:

Number of fires in town, 10
Amount of damage, $5,105.00
Total value of property involved, $83,500.00
False alarms, 2
Put out by chemicals, 7
Put out by water, 3
Number of fires out of town, 8
Amount of damage, $51,200.00
Total value of property involved, $95,000.00
Amount of hose on hand, 2,400 feet.

I do not know what the fire losses were last year but I believe that the total damage would amount to about 40 per cent of the total property value involved, while this year, thanks to the new apparatus, the damage will amount to less than 6 1/2 per cent of the total value of property involved. Now, gentlemen, the above figures speak for themselves, and the department should be kept up to the maximum efficiency by your continued loyal support.

(The figures for last year, as nearly exact as possible, were, total property involved, $700.00, with damages amounting to $251,240.00.)

The apparatus is in excellent condition, neither pumper ever being out of commission for any repairs whatsoever. This is certainly remarkable when the fact is taken into consideration that eight green men had to be trained to operate them, seven of them never having operated one before.

All the hose in both houses is practically new excepting 850 feet, which is in excellent condition. The borough manager has also a number of old sections to be repaired, which should be attended to, as there is no telling when the department might need it.

In responding to out of town alarms, the building on fire is usually a total loss, but the thing to consider is the property around it. The department has saved thousands of dollars worth of property in this manner, which is not included in this report, and which has gained the good will of the grateful people of the surrounding communities.

In conclusion I wish to thank the members of the department and council for their loyal support, and wish them all the compliments of the season.

Respectfully yours,

R. E. KLINE.

Married Fifty Years.

Mr. and Mrs. James Schofield observed their Golden Wedding anniversary at their home on South Thomas street on Christmas day. Mrs. Schofield was Miss Ellen Fleck, of Phillipsburg, and was married at the home in Phillipsburg to Mr. Schofield on Christmas day, 1872, by Rev. Thomas Barnhart. At the repetition of the marriage service on Christmas day, the ceremony was performed by Rev. David R. Evans, in the presence of a large number of guests. Guests at the dinner which followed the Golden Wedding ceremony included Mrs. G. Ross Parker and son George, of New Brunswick, N. J.; Mrs. William Rapsber, of Philadelphia; Charles Fleck, of New York; Howard Fleck, of Altoona; Mr. and Mrs. M. L. McGinness, of Clearfield; Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hewitt, of Philadelphia; James Trimmer, of Harrisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Schofield, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Larimer and two daughters, Elizabeth and Marietta, of Bellefonte.

Was Happy Season.

The Christmas season was generally a very happy one according to indications. The business men, in many instances, noted one of the biggest days in their career on the Saturday preceding Christmas. Guests were in many homes. The Community Christmas tree, at the diamond, and attending exercises held in the Court House on Sunday evening, as well as the various church entertainments, all tended toward the joy of the occasion and the weather was agreeable. The pretty effects brought on the Community Christmas tree were in large measure due to the electrical wiring and arrangement done by Andy Kachik, of the local force.

Is Winter Time Your Backache Time?

Does Your Back Foretell Every Change of the Weather?
Do You Feel Old and Stiff and Suffer Sharp, Rheumatic Pains? Then Look to Your Kidneys!

ARE winter months your backache months? Does every cold, chill or attack of grip leave you lame, aching and all worn out? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going another day?

Then look to your kidneys! Grip, colds and chills throw a heavy strain on the kidneys. They overload the blood with poisons and impurities that the kidneys have to filter off. The kidneys weaken under this rush of new work; become congested and inflamed.

It's little wonder, then, that every cold finds you suffering with torturing backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and annoying bladder irregularities.

Don't wait! Delay may lead to serious or chronic kidney sickness. Realize that your kidneys have weakened in fighting the cold-created poisons and give them the help they need. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills today. Doan's have helped thousands at such times and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

"Use Doan's," Say These Good Folks:

WM. B. HARDING, W. Center Ave., Newtown, Pa., says: "I had a weak back and if I caught cold I felt it most across the small of my back. Being on my feet constantly and the jarring and jolting during my work kept my kidneys in a stirred-up condition and as a result my back became so lame I found it difficult to bend or stoop. I got a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills and never found anything their equal for relieving kidney trouble. My kidneys were put in normal condition and I was rid of the pains in my back."

MRS. J. LUPPOLD, 3rd St., West Newton, Pa., says: "I took a bad cold several years ago and it settled in my back. My back hurt so I could hardly get around and knife-like pains would shoot through me. My head ached too, and I was so nervous I could hardly work. I was also dizzy. Black specks came before my eyes and my kidneys annoyed me by their irregular action. I took different medicines but got no help until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. In a short time my back felt like new and I was cured."

Absent-Minded Man's Ingenious Reason for Making Use of Profane Combination for Safe.

E. Fornier d'Albe is the inventor of the optophone, a machine which, by transforming print into light rays and thence into musical sounds, permits the blind to read.

Professor d'Albe said, modestly in an interview in New York:

"Yes, my optophone is rather ingenious. It is almost as ingenious as your American business man who used for the combination of his safe the queer words, 'Oh, hell.'"

"A lady asked him why he used such a queer combination as that. He answered:

"I have a very poor memory, and so, you see, ma'am, whenever I forget the combination it comes to me."

Bobbie had always been intrigued by the wax figures in the windows, but had never asked any questions concerning them. Several weeks ago he and his mother emerged from the elevator on the second floor of one of the department stores, immediately in front of a wax lady clad in a gorgeous pink satin breakfast jacket. Bobbie rushed up to the figure and touched her face and neck, then turned and said in a horrified tone, "Mother! She's wax!"

Mother smiled tolerantly and replied, "Yes, son; did you think she was real?" "Sure, I thought she was real—stuffed."—Los Angeles Times.

"Well, Tommy," said mother, a day or two after No. 4 had arrived, "and how do you like your new governess?" "Oh, I like her ever so much," he replied.

"That's right, darling," said mother, much relieved. "I'm so glad my little boy has found a teacher he likes at last."

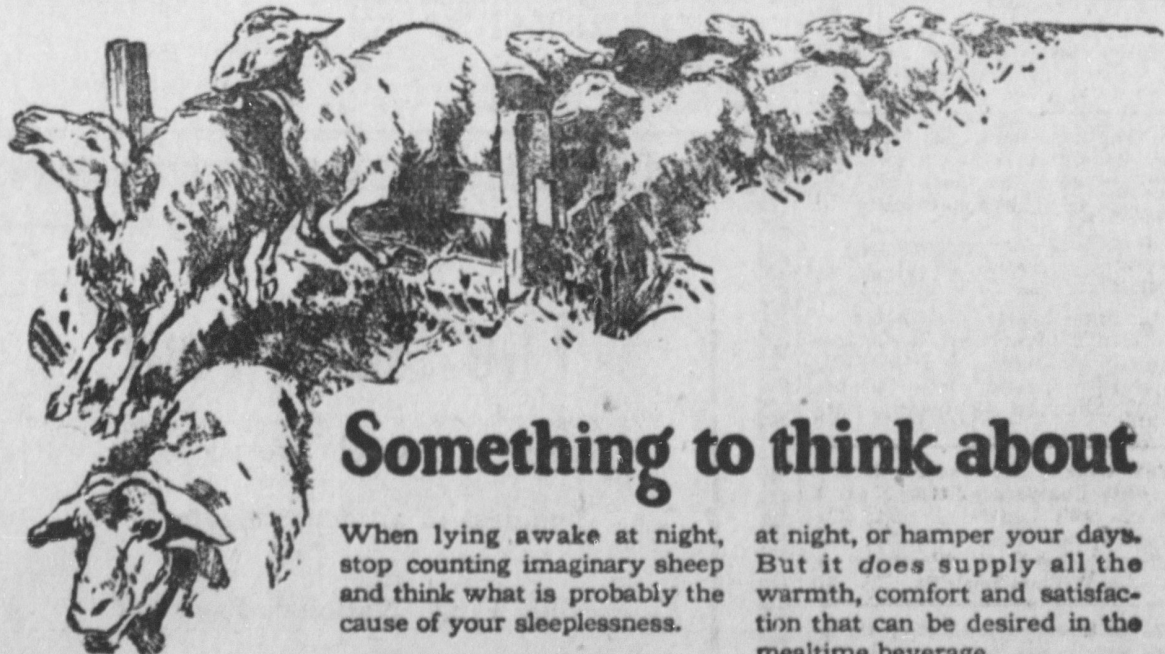

"Yes," observed Tommy, "she's awfully sweet. She says she don't care whether I learn anything or not as long as father pays her salary."

Mix Religion and Politics

Two Are Inextricably Bound Up in Way It Is Hard for Western Mind to Conceive.

CALIPH "WITHOUT PORTFOLIO"

Radical Departure That Is Little Understood Outside of the Islam World—Misconceptions About Faith Add to Confusion.

Did you know that if the Mohammedan world was a religious unit there would be no urgent Near East problem?

Washington.—Near East politics are inextricably bound up with religion in ways it is hard for us to conceive. And some prevalent misconceptions about the Mohammedan faith seem to add confusion to many discussions about Moslem problems.

"A caliph without temporal power is a more radical departure in the Islam world than the western mind at first can grasp," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society.

"The easiest way to dispel some of these illusions is by pointing to several striking likenesses between the world's two newest and among the major religions. The term 'Mohammedan,' like the term 'Christian,' is a nickname. Both names were given, with contemptuous intent, by enemies of the religions.

Both Religions Nicknamed.

"The term 'Christian' was quickly adopted by followers of the Nazarene. The term 'Mohammedan' never has been adopted by the followers of the prophet. He sought to avoid the employment of his own name by supplying one—the name of Islam—by which he hoped Mohammedanism would be known. He further sought to make this word, meaning resignation, imply the five cardinal points of the new faith. The first of these points was the brief creed, 'There is no God but Allah, and Mohammed is his prophet.' The other four enjoined prayer, giving of alms, the fast of Ramadan and pilgrimage to Mecca.

"Another significant parallel between Christianity and Mohammedanism is that both are the religions of millions of people of races alien to that of their founders. Christ was a Jew; Mohammed was an Arab. It is the Mohammedanism modified by the Turkish temperament and nationality that has clashed with Western civilization in recent centuries.

Islam Not a Religious Unit.

"Most misleading of all the illusions about Mohammedanism, however, is the tacit assumption that the Mohammedan world is a religious unit. Seen a long way off the sects and groups fade away. In reality there are two great branches of Mohammedanism, the Sunnites and the Shites. Among both these branches, and also outside them, there are sharply drawn cleavages.

"Recent caliphs, who have been the sultans of Turkey, have claimed spiritual supremacy over the Mohammedan world of some 300,000,000 souls. But in actual fact the sultan of Turkey had little more spiritual ascendancy over the Mohammedans outside Turkey than the king of England has over the Episcopalians in the United States. In fact there would be no urgent Near East problem at this moment had his leadership been recognized on the other side of the Bosphorus in Asia Minor.

Caliphs Have Always Ruled.

"A very important difference between the Western mind and the Mohammedan viewpoint has, hitherto, precluded a spiritual ascendancy of the latter which would cut across all lines of temporal power and include even warring nations. The Mohammedan has no priests. Islam is the rule but were kept busy fighting to hold the sway Omar had established.

"When Ali's son and successor, Hassan, was murdered, probably by the hand of his wife at the behest of Moawiyah, this Moawiyah assumed the caliphate, removed its seat to Damascus, and began the series of rulers known as Omeyyads. Henceforth the Shites were alienated from the Sunnites, or Orthodox Mohammedans, because of their reverence for Ali and Hassan, and their belief that the first of the Omeyyads and his successors were usurpers and pretenders. Arabian and Persian Mohammedans inclined toward the Shiite faction.

An Earlier Rebellion of Irak.

"Away back in the days of the successor to Moawiyah the inhabitants of Irak rebelled—the same Irak which only last year launched out again on its national course after electing Emir Faisal as king. Faisal is the third son of the grand sheriff of Mecca.

"It was during another series of caliphates, that of the Abbasid monarchs, that Harun al Rashid ruled. And it was after his reign that the division of the caliphate among his three sons made the caliphate into a sort of commission form of government. One son was to hold sway over Arabia and Syria; another in Persia and Turkestan; and a third in Asia Minor and the Black sea region.

"At another time, toward the end of the Tenth century, Bagdad, Cairo and Cordova, Spain, all were the seats of separate ruling caliphs; though this was no amiable division. Each caliph declared the other a heretic and held himself the lone head of all Islam.

"How Abul Abbas, first of the Abbasid monarchs had every living male of the Omeyyads thrown into prison, killed them all, and then gave a banquet on a great cloth thrown over their bones is but one example of the fantastic cruelty of the centuries-long struggle to be caliph.

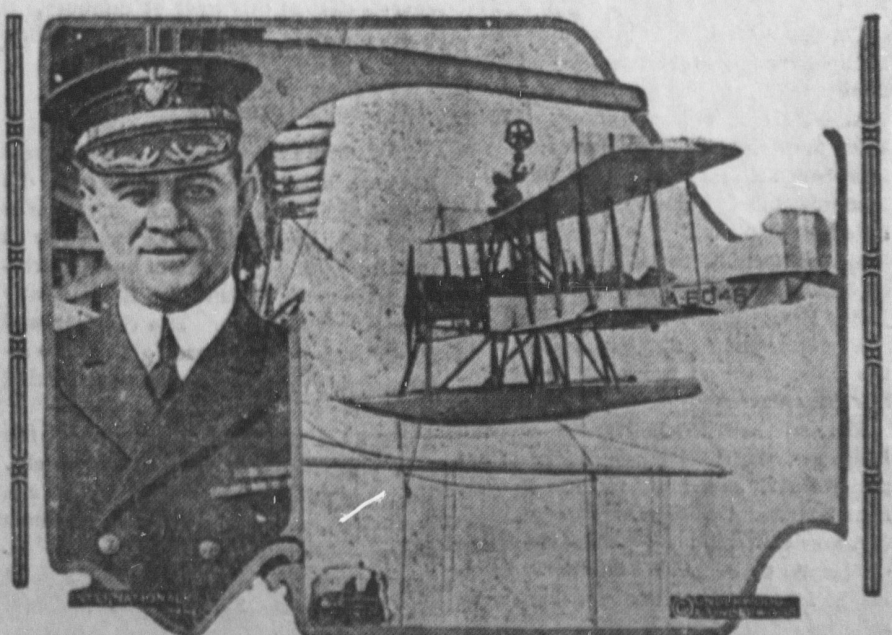

"The story of the caliphate would fill—has filled—volumes. The assumption of the title by the sultans of Turkey is a modern and perhaps a minor chapter in the struggle to be 'The Successor' and thus to hold sway over this mighty force of Islam. Points of special interest are that force often has played a major part in assumption of the role, that there have been several caliphs both by mutual agreement and also by rivalry, and that acquiring the title of caliph by no means guarantees its recognition by the Moslem world."

Tidal Transportation.
Some of the finest grindstones in the world come from the bottom of the Bay of Fundy. The stone-cutters there have a simple method of moving them to the shore. Workmen quarry the stones from the solid rock when the tide is out and fasten them to a large flat-bottomed boat. The tides in the Bay of Fundy are the highest in the world. They rise from 50 to 70 feet and rush in with great swiftness. The tide lifts the flat boat with the stones attached. The workmen bring the boat ashore and remove the stones at their leisure when the tide is out.

Frank nodded vigorously. "What games did you play?" Frank gave a detailed account. "What did you have to eat?" The boy looked at his father in amazement. "What did I have to eat?" he replied. "Why, dad, I didn't have to eat anything. I wanted to!"—Youth's Companion.

THE SUBSTITUTE

By AGNES BROGAN

(©, 1923, Western Newspaper Union.)

The neatly-tailored woman with kindly humorous eyes entered the Pullman briskly and settled herself in a chair, watching with interest the various passengers dispose themselves. She had been sent now after an almost impossible interview.

Miss Martha Dun was known to round up notables and wring from them their secret thoughts, where other reporters failed in approach.

So, now, the "lovely lady" entering took a chair directly opposite. The face was truly lovely, from thoughtful blue eyes to tender curving lips.

The porter paid her the homage due a personage, and she cast a little half smile in the direction of Martha Dun before she turned to the window.

It was at a country station that the "wan little girl"—again Martha's naming—came hesitating up the car steps. The porter led her to a seat before that of the lovely lady and across from Martha Dun—in search of a story.

The story promised to be enacted before her eyes, for the girl, swaying suddenly, turned a frightened glance on her neighbor. "I am ill," she said.

Tremblingly weak, the girl toppled, a crumpling bundle of navy-blue on the car floor.

The lovely lady, raising the brown head, murmured words of encouragement. "You will be all right, my dear, in a few moments."

"I will be unable to continue the journey," the wan little girl said ruefully. And it would mean so much to Granny and me. You see, I was to sing tonight at a small town entertainment. They were to pay me," she added impressively—twenty dollars. Now, I shall have to get off at the next stop and go back home."

"You love to sing?" the lovely lady asked.

"All my life, I have longed to be a singer. My name is Alice Sanders," the girl offered. "Granny has sacrificed a great deal to give me the small benefit of local teaching."

The girl's eyes twinkled. "Friends would tell you that I have a remarkable voice—the rest of the world has not awakened to that fact. You are kind to listen. Good-by."

From her purse she drew a notebook and pencil. "Write for me," she requested, "a line of introduction. Just say, 'A friend, substituting for Miss Sanders.'"

The line was written before Alice in her astonishment was fully aware. "Stop at Waycross," she directed breathlessly; "they will have some one to meet you there."

"May I," inquired Martha Dun of the lovely lady, "take this seat for a moment? I would like to talk with you." But the lady, turning from a farewell wave to Alice, smiled placatingly. "Please, no," she said.

A solitary old man was waiting at Waycross station. His disappointment in not finding Alice Sanders was evident. Alice's friend approached him with her explanation and he offered, not very graciously, to take her over to the hall, to "see the committee." "They are waiting there," he said.

Martha Dun, coming out of Waycross station, followed resolutely on up the hill. The hill was filled that evening and disappointment in their favorite's absence was apparent on all sides. Opposite the numbers on the program that Alice was to have sung, was written simply—"Substituting for Miss Sanders."

The lovely lady looked down on her unsmiling audience and sang the songs that Alice had chosen. The house was very still—then they applauded. The singer's face flushed happily.

Martha Dun sat on the front seat. When the applause had died away the lovely lady took a place at her side.

"Miss Dun," she said, "I ask that you will not mar my happy hour by publicity. Let me tell you. That girl who entered the train today might have been myself years ago—with my difficulties and yearning ambition. When I stood on that crude stage tonight, I was carried back to my first public singing in our town hall, the very country town from which Alice came today. And in all my professional triumphs I have never since known the thrill of that first appearance—the friendly faces everywhere. You will not use this little story?"

A man with hair graying at the temples came hurrying toward the two. Before the noted singer of two continents he paused. "Dora!" he exclaimed. "Tom!" cried the lovely lady.

"I came here," he went on, "filled with hope because a little patient of mine told of a generous sweet lady who volunteered to take her place at this entertainment. Her description—the news of your return to this country—and I do find you, after all Dora!"

Martha Dun slipped away. At the door she stopped to replace the reporter's tablet in her bag. Then a voice called to her—the lovely lady's face was radiant.

"The doctor and I will drive you to the station, Miss Dun," she said. "And later, would it compensate if I were to give you the story of an old love affair renewed? Theodora Gail's one love story. The world will be interested—don't you think—in the fact that she returns from her European tour to marry a country doctor? For neither success nor riches," added the lovely lady, "bring happiness. Just two things count for much in this world—kindly deeds and love."

Hopes to Travel 250 Miles an Hour

If the expectations of the inventor, Prof. E. J. Christie of Marion, Iowa, designer of the gyroscopic unicycle now in the course of construction in Philadelphia, come true, methods of transportation ultimately will be revolutionized, especially as regards speed. The above 14-foot model is now under way at his shop and may be finished during the winter. Mr. Christie is positive in his prediction it will develop a speed of at least 250 miles an hour. The design is simply that of a giant bicycle wheel with an exceptionally wide axle, controlled and operated like an automobile. The model weighs 700 pounds, is stabilized by two gyroscopes, runs on one rim only and will not upset.

Big Bear Killed in Pennsylvania

A party of hunters, composed of J. Allen Barrett, A. H. Rowe, Charles Wittmer and Herman Wentzler, while out hunting in Clinton county, Pennsylvania, killed a bear weighing some 500 pounds and measuring 18 inches from ear to ear, 33 inches around the neck, and 9 feet 11 inches tall. This is one of the largest bears ever killed in the country, and certainly the largest in Pennsylvania.

LOTS OF WOMEN SUFFER THIS WAY

No Appetite, Thin, Weak and Nervous—Pains in Back—Housework Too Hard.

SIMPLE HOME TONIC IS WHAT THEY NEED

"I suppose lots of women suffer like I did, and if they do I can tell them what to take, for I know. I tried dozens of medicines and now I know the health-builder and tonic in the world, and druggists say the same thing," declared Miss Susan Dale, of Pittsburgh. (We print her statement below for the benefit of others.)

"I was so weak I was afraid to go out on the street for fear of fainting or falling. I couldn't walk a city block without weariness. I had no appetite. I didn't eat enough to keep a child alive and was thin and pale. I was just a shadow. I couldn't do even the lightest work and every now and then I had pains in my back. I tried everything without results. Then I heard about Hypo-Cod and began taking it regularly, and it is positively wonderful, and, Oh! how good it feels to be healthy and strong again. I enjoy the very best of health. I work every day—then go out evenings. I sleep fine and feel fresh as a daisy morning. I gained ten pounds in weight on Hypo-Cod and have a tremendous appetite. It built me up all over and my system got so strong it threw off the old ailments," continued Miss Dale, 247 Amboy St., Pittsburgh.

Thousands of delicate, sickly women have found that as soon as they take this modern, powerful tonic and put themselves in the pink of condition they throw off minor ills and troubles and feel splendid all the time. Hypo-Cod is powerful enough to do the work. Tastes so nice everyone likes it, and it agrees with even the weakest stomach. Right now, with winter here, we want to eat heavy, heat-making winter foods—hot cakes, etc. Take Hypo-Cod. Enjoy eating, sleeping and being out in the cold. Well, people don't mind the cold. Hypo-Cod costs only one dollar per large bottle. All druggists.—Advertisement.

Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is sure because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to spot, fade, streak, or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.—Advertisement.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store. However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Lost Motion.

The chairman of the board of directors was close. He came in late as a ballot was being taken, thought they were trying to put something over on him, and yelled: "I don't know what you're balloting on, but I'm against it." "You've got plenty of company," said a quaint old director.

"Hey?" "The vote was on a motion I made to buy you a gold watch."
